

Mike Mullen

BMX rider

Mike started riding BMX after watching a televised competition called 'BMX Beat' during the 1980s. He asked for a BMX as a Christmas present and from then on just couldn't get enough of it! To date Mike is the '94 World Amateur and '98 World Masterclass BMX Halfpipe Champion and is still active within his sport.

He spends much of his time in the summer performing at displays and competitions, working as a coach and running an extreme sports display team (Team Extreme). He also has an MA in Design and runs a web design business

"I began riding BMX bikes 20 years ago as a hobby after school. From then onwards I've been constantly amazed by the experiences it's given me. So many opportunities have grown from being a BMX rider. I've met inspiring people and visited interesting and unusual places around the world."

His career has included competition world titles and jobs as a performer, company director, coach and mentor to young people. He wouldn't change any of it for the world.
